

TENURE-TRACK/TENURE PHYSICS OPENING AT TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

The Physics Department at Temple University anticipates an opening for a tenure-track or tenured faculty appointment, to begin July 1, 2020, subject to administrative approval and budgetary constraints. Candidates must hold a doctorate in an appropriate field, have demonstrated the ability to perform excellent research, and show promise for high-quality physics teaching.

Our Department has active and well funded groups in experimental, computational, and theoretical AMO, condensed matter, and nuclear physics. Candidates in these and other subfields of physics are welcome to apply, especially those who can diversify our research and/or attract students at the undergraduate, master's, or doctoral level.

To apply please submit a curriculum vitae, publication list, research plan including an estimate of necessary startup resources, statement of teaching philosophy, and arrange to have three letters of recommendation, all submitted on-line at

<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14364>

Screening of applications will begin December 1, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. Temple University is an equal opportunity, equal access, affirmative action employer committed to achieving a diverse community (AA, EOE, m/f/d/v).
