How to get here by car

Follow GPS to Nevis Labs Columbia University

The main entrance is easy to miss but has a small white sign for Columbia University Nevis Laboratories. It is immediately adjacent to Ardsley Avenue West.

Parking is plentiful and free at Nevis Labs

Columbia-Nevis Commuter Van

A Nevis commuter van runs from the Columbia Morningside campus to Nevis Labs once each morning and returns at the end of the day. The drive from campus is ~40 minutes. If you plan on staying in NYC and would like to use this service, please contact Amy for details.

How to get here by train

Note: The train schedule for the Metro-North Hudson line is available on-line. Select trains leaving from either Grand Central or 125th St Station or Marble Hill, and arriving at Ardsley-on-Hudson.

From Columbia University

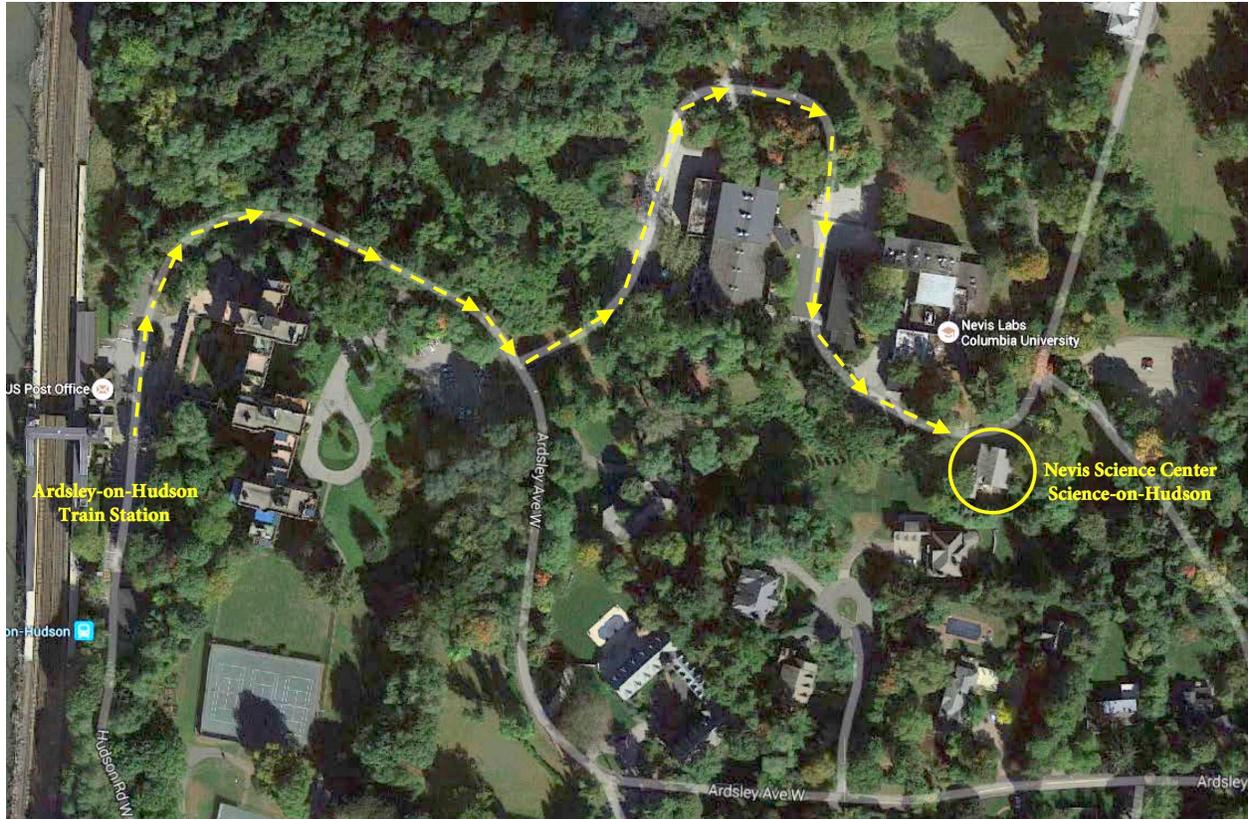

Take the 1 subway north to 225th street. As you walk down the stairs from the elevated platform, note the location of the Metro-North Marble Hill train station about one block to the west. The northbound train stops there hourly about 40 minutes after the hour during non-rush hours. Take the train north to the Ardsley-on-Hudson station and follow the directions below.

From elsewhere in Manhattan

Go to Grand Central Station (here's a subway map) or the Metro-North Harlem 125th St station located at E125th St and Park Ave. Take the Metro-North Hudson Line train northbound. During non-rush hours, this train leaves Grand Central hourly at 20 minutes after the hour. Get off at the Ardsley-on-Hudson station and follow the directions below.

@ Ardsley-on-Hudson
